

A B O U T

CHRIS LAFLEUR

Chris Lafleur is Managing Director for the development of ZQuip, a start up within Moog Inc., a worldwide designer, manufacturer, and integrator of precision control components and systems.

Chris drives his business with a focus on solving end user problems by taking an innovative, agile approach to finding solutions. Within this role, Chris is responsible for end-to-end management of business development, product development, sales activities, engineering and support of ZQuip's growing business.

Before joining Moog Inc. in 2020, Chris found purpose working in start ups, even founding his own. Chris earned his B.S. in Finance from SUNY at Buffalo, as well as MBA from Harvard Business School.

WWW.ZQUIP.TECH

